

What is Environmental Science?

Examine the diagram below:

How are each of these topics related to environmental science?

Working with a partner, or in a small group, create a word web/concept map that attempts to link all of these thoughts together. As an example, "Biology" is a division of E.S.; but it is also closely connected to ecology, ethics, anthropology and archeology. You are allowed to use linking phrases in your concept map as well- for instance, you make link history, sociology and anthropology with the phrase "the study of humans."

Each group will be displaying their completed concept map to the class in 45 minutes. Use your time wisely.
